

VOYAGER MAXI QUEST TRAVEL BAG

Telescopic handle

Stop stand on bottom of bag

Heavy duty wheels

Internal compartments

This clam-shell bag makes a great deal of use out of its compact rectangular shape.

The two cushioned and zipped compartments, the bottom one slightly deeper than the top, have a generous amount of capacity between them. A removable divider inside the lower compartment comes in useful for either separating kit or using as one large compartment.

The front zipped compartment is big enough for your diving fins - the pocket measures 75cm x 35cm. Two external zipped pockets, for yet more capacity, remain as well.

The Maxi Quest is manufactured from 'Ripstop' nylon. This material creates a heavy-duty look, without compromising on wear resistance.

The Voyager Maxi Quest is a large high-capacity dive bag that is exceptionally versatile and built to withstand frequent heavy use.

The bottom is rigid and curves up both ends. On top of that, a heavy-duty textured PVC base, that extends partly up all sides, provides a robust base for the corner guards, runners, heavy-duty wheels and wheel guards.

Transporting the bag could not be simpler. A lockable telescopic handle, reinforced top handle, and a stop stand at the other end give it the grace of something much less robust.
